New Englanders could finance 75,000 miles of toll-free superhighways each year and have enough left over to construct several multi-million dollar airports—that is, they could if they were so inclined and had the money being paid by their citizens just for interest on the national debt.

This was disclosed through a study of federal budget appropriations completed by the research department of the National Association of Manufacturers which has been released by Robert W. Stoddard, executive vice president of the Wyman-Gordon Company of Worcester and regional vice president of the NAM.

Commenting that too many people regard the national debt as some mythical thing which doesn't affect them, Mr. Stoddard said that one dollar out of every ten collected in federal taxes now goes to pay the interest on the debt.

The NAM report shows that the government this year will have to spend about $6,255,000,000 in interest payments on its $260-billion debt, or, on a per capita basis, $40.70 for every man, woman and child.

For the 9,311,453 people in New England this amounts to $399,098,257 which is enough to build 75,000 miles of highway at $5000 a mile and still leave enough to construct several multi-million dollar airports.

"There is nothing mythical about this national debt or the interest that has to be paid on it each year," Mr. Stoddard said. "Not only that, we pay huge amounts in interest, but the debt itself is an obligation which must be met eventually. The government must satisfy the obligation or let our entire money and credit system crash."

Philip H. Chadbourne of Bethel was named last week to membership in the American Hereford Association, the world's largest purebred registry organization, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. One hundred seventy-three Hereford breeders were placed on the Association's official roster during August to boost the total membership to an all-time high of 21,290.

Mr Chadbourne has about 90 head of purebred Hereford cattle, which the past season have attracted many travelers along the Bethel-Locke Mills road. Most of this herd he has accumulated during the past year. The cattle will be taken soon to the Fred Wight farm in Glenfield where Mr. Chadbourne bought this summer, where they will enjoy fall feed and spend the winter.

This herd is one of the few in the state with polled animals (without horns). He has several polled cows and at the show and sale at Fredericks, Maryland, last spring both he and Edmund Smith, bought polled Hereford bulls. In a few generations of breeding with polled cows practically all offspring will be without horns.

At the present time Mr Chadbourne has a group of 10 Herefords making the rounds of the fairs in charge of Howard Bailey.

Obsolete Cars Attract Many on Tour Here

The visit here Saturday and Sunday of the Maine Obsolete Automobile League on their annual Lothrop Tour was a pleasant affair enjoyed by many who stopped to inspect the vehicles of another day. The visiting cars were all in excellent condition and the owners were glad to explain the interesting features of their cars. An interesting group greeted the tourists during their short day on the Common Saturday afternoon and many more, learning of their overnight location at the New Yorker in Mayville, stopped there during the early evening and before their start Sunday morning.

The tour originated in Portland Friday morning, stopping that night at Lakewood. Saturday's journey was from Lakewood to Bethel by the way of Anson, Stark, Farmington and Rumford. From here Sunday they went to Glenfield and thence Evans Notch to Fryeburg, thence to their various homes.

Cars stopping here Saturday night were: 1911 Ford, Halsey G. Beck, South Casco; 1916 Apperson Jackrabill, Lawrence Plowman, Portland; 1917 Ford, Lawrence Brown, Waterville; 1921 Oldsmobile, Charles Clough, West Calm; 1921 Templar, Edgar Cole, and Maurice McDonald, Thorndike; 1924 Franklin, Bob DeHart, Scarborough; 1924 Marmon, John Mayo, Portland. The group was joined Sunday morning by a 1923 Hudson Super-Six.

The Lothrop Tour is named for Dr. Eaton Shaw Lothrop, one of the founders of the League. Members try to find early cars and spend some time in restoring. According to the ancient car fans this worthwhile hobby need not be too expensive if the car needs considerable "restoration" but it may take quite a lot of time.

Maine's Road Death Toll 11 in August

Eleven people met death on Maine's highways during August. This compares favorably with fifteen highway fatalities in August last year and twenty-seven in 1950. Traffic deaths for the first eight months of this year total eighty-six—two less than last year's count of eighty-eight for the same period.

Five pedestrian deaths raised walking fatalities to twenty-nine for the year, as compared with twenty-two at this time last year. With the most dangerous pedestrian month still ahead of us, this phase of the traffic accident picture for 1952 looks very dark.

Ten of the month's deaths occurred in rural sections, the only urban fatality resulting when a pedestrian was struck and killed while crossing the street not at an intersection.

Weekends, as usual, proved to be especially dangerous times on the highways. This was borne out by the fact that six people more than half of August's total of traffic victims were killed on Saturdays and Sunday.

With the reopening of school, we face a definite traffic hazard. Approximately 180,000 youngsters will be on the streets and highways at certain specific times each day, Monday through Friday. The great majority of these will be elementary school students from five to fourteen years of age. They will be walking, running, playing and using almost every type of vehicle—bikes, roller skates, tricycles, scooters, buses, and private cars. Filled with the exuberance of youth they will, many times, forget to be careful. So, child safety in traffic is unusually important in September, as the youngsters return to school and to the exciting new acquaintances and experiences which will demand so much of their attention.

The responsibility for the safety of these youngsters must be shared by the parents, the motorists, the schools and the children themselves. The parents must instill safety habits in their children and set good examples; the motorists must accept children with their lack of good judgment and with their erratic behavior; the schools must make traffic safety a vital part of their teachings and the youngsters themselves must make an honest and serious effort to practice safety. Only this coordinated four-way effort will keep our children safe. Let John deWinter, Director, Division of Traffic & Safety, Maine State Police.

Deborah, Women of Courage
Leviticus Judges 4: 1-10, 13-15;
1: 1-7

Golden Text: Joshua 1: 9

OUR lesson tells of the destruction of a great army of the Canaanites and the death of the mighty leader who had been accustomed to lead 900 chariots into battle against the Israelites at frequent and terrible intervals.

Deborah, a judge of the Israelites, determined upon effective resistance. Enlisting Barak, a strong warrior, a plan of battle was formed that caught Sisera and his army between two forces on the plain of Endor.

Deborah, a prophetess and a judge in Israel, was a great poet and in her song of victory she spoke of the stars in their courses as fighting against Sisera. There came a torrent of rain upon the plain and begged the chariots of Sisera down in mud.

Sisera soon saw that his own life was in danger, and he jumped down out of a chariot and fled away on foot. At length he reached the house of a maid who had been employed to report at all times on the movements of the Israelites. The spy was not in the tent, but Sisera thought he could trust the woman's wife. So he turned in and soon fell into a sleep of utter weariness, and he awoke from it nevermore. For Jael drove a tent nail into the man's forehead and he died by the hand of a woman.

KILL POTATO TOPS BEFORE DIGGING, ADVISES MOSIER

It is an old potato grower's rule to kill the potato tops before the digging. This is done by pulling the tops out of the ground and leaving them on the surface. This prevents the tops from rotting in the ground and causing a disease known as "black rot" which is a very serious one. It is also a good idea to pull the tops out of the ground and leave them on the surface. This prevents the tops from rotting in the ground and causing a disease known as "black rot" which is a very serious one.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

CONSTITUTION DAY SEPTEMBER 17

"THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION RANKS ABOVE EVERY OTHER WRITTEN CONSTITUTION IN ITS ADAPTATION TO CIRCUMSTANCES, ITS SIMPLICITY, BREVITY AND PRECISION, ITS MIXTURE OF DEFINITENESS IN PRINCIPLE WITH ELASTICITY OF DETAIL."
JAMES DRYCE

AFTER 165 YEARS, THE CONSTITUTION FRAMED FOR A NATION OF 4 MILLION PEOPLE, SERVES, WITH LITTLE BASIC CHANGE, TO PRESERVE OUR FREEDOM AND TO GUIDE US IN DIRECTING THE DESTINY OF A WORLD POWER WITH A POPULATION OF MORE THAN 150 MILLION.

WHAT DRYCE WROTE, MORE THAN FIFTY YEARS AGO, IN HIS "AMERICAN COMMONWEALTH," IS TRUE TODAY—AND, IF WE PROTECT ITS PRINCIPLES AND PRESERVE ITS SPIRIT, WILL BE TRUE TOMORROW.

"Yankee Thrift" must become more than a phrase.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. William Wedel, Strville, Ohio: Do you remember good old days when a summer was a disgrace? The ladies sat to the elbows, carried in, and oh, the time spent in the face and hands in a mixture of sour milk and gingerbread! Well, I rejoice in a good healthy summer tan.

From E. L. McGinnis, Cutler, W. Va.: I remember how my father and mother used to stuff winter nights around a wood fire with eight children and dried beans.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmont, W. Va.: Every family used to have hop vines in the front or garden from which the boys were gathered to make yeast bread or popovers.

From Amelia Dozier, Denver: I remember when the floors in houses were so cold that the children had to sit around the stove put their feet in the oven to keep them warm.

From Jack Cox, Larkspur, Cal.: I remember the first rifle I saw. I watched Grandpa make it patterned after the Kenton muzzle loading contest rifle. I wanted to shoot it when I was seven, but the barrel was too hot to be cut off 18 inches. He had wound their big watches with it. They made a sun dial by sawing off the end of a log and marking the four directions on it. They put a stick in the middle to throw a shadow large as the hour and as tall as the half-hour.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. William Wedel, Strongsville, Ohio: Do you remember the good old days when a summer tan was a disgrace? The ladies wore mitts to the elbows, carried parasols, and oh, the time spent bathing the face and hands in a sticky mixture of sour milk and grated browned butter! Well, I rejoice now in a good healthy summer tan.

From S. J. McGinnis, Caledonia, N. H.: I remember how happy my father and mother used to be sitting winter nights around a large wood fire with eight children huddling under the covers.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmont, W. Va.: Every family used to have hop vines in the front yard or garden from which the hops were gathered to make yeast for bread or puddings.

From Amelia Decker, Denver: I remember when the floors in our houses were so cold that the children had to sit around the stove and put their feet in the oven to keep them warm.

From Jack Cox, Larkeport, Calif.: I remember the first rifle I ever saw. I watched Granddad make it. He patterned it after the Kentucky Wadsworth and it was a 12 gauge. I learned to shoot it when I was seven, but the barrel was too heavy to be cut off 18 inches. He and Dad wound their big watches with keys. They made a sun dial for mother by sawing off the end of a log and marking the four directions on it. They put a stick in the middle to throw a shadow on large nails for the hours and small nails for the half-hours.

A peek at THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

CHARLTON HESTON, TV actor who jumped into movie stardom overnight in "Greatest Show on Earth," may enact the role of Moses in Cecil B. DeMille's next Biblical film. . . . Louis Hayward is the newest star to go video. . . . He'll be "Rox Morano" in a series based on the comic strip of that name. . . . Another comic strip series being offered prospective bankrollers is the video version of "Blondie" . . . Some of the late Mark Hellinger's stories are being packaged as possible radio fare. . . . This could start a drive back to radio, for Hellinger's stories were always worthwhile.

Fred Allen is reported recovering rapidly, but he'll most likely be off the air until early next year. . . . From here it looks like Herb Shriner is in the best position to replace Fred on his new TV series starting this fall. . . . Despite TV inroads, radio is still very much alive and kicking as proven by the fact that the FCC currently has 300 applications on file for new radio stations. . . . "Easy Aces," the old radio rib-ticker, is being mulled over for TV with the chance that Grace Hartman may star in it. . . . This is what we would call inspired casting. . . . Burl Ives is illing with pneumonia in Honolulu.

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIA:—Art Lowry revives a real oldie—"Down By the Old Mill" with gay results. . . . "What Do You Mean By Loving Somebody Else?" backs it. . . . Art proves profitable by coming up with a second disc that could elix well. . . . Songs are "Hold Me in Your Heart" with "Someone Else's Arms" on the flip side. . . . Guy Mitchell, who hasn't been heard from for quite a while, has a good waxing in "Jenny Kissed Me" with "Feet Up" on the reverse. . . . An unique coupling finds Rosemary Clooney and Marlene Dietrich doing "Good for Nothing" together and it's worth getting for your collection. . . . The combine voices again on the back in "Too Old to Cut the Mustard."

Bar Harbor Expects Non-Exclusive Future

BAR HARBOR on Maine's Mount Desert Island, once ranked with Newport as a fashionable summer resort, has surmounted a disastrous fire and is overcoming the current scarcity of millionaires as she builds for the future.

Showed Yankee town fathers realize that 1,000 tourists, each with $50 to spend, equal one wealthy person with $50,000 in a handy check book. They have encouraged the building of modest vacation cabins on sites from which the great fire of October, 1917, erased glittering hotels and ornate mansions.

With Canada's help, Bar Harbor plans to establish a ferry service from Yarmouth, N. S., and thus, in a reversal of the usual trend, attract Canadians of ordinary means down to this pine-scented American vacation place. Small boats and cruise ships for those with slim pocketbooks have all but replaced great yachts that once sailed over the cool blue waters surrounding Mount Desert's rocky coast.

Newport's social pace was responsible for the millionaires' invasion of Mount Desert during the Gay Nineties. Seeking a quieter and more distant environment than was to be found in the Rhode Island resort, men of wealth built great homes to which they came in summer aboard their yachts or in luxurious steamboats from Boston and New York.

In Nordic homes found which nearly cula the island in two, Mount Desert has a scenic view reminiscent of Norway. The Jackson Laboratory, destroyed in the fire but rebuilt, holds an enviable reputation for medical research. Gloucestermen fish famous redfish grounds twenty miles out in the North Atlantic.

Winters are cold, with snow so deep that year round residents dig tunnels from one house to another. Mount Desert's planners hope to capitalize on the cold by making their island a center for winter sports.

GOULD ACADEMY

The following girls have been selected for the cheer leading squad for this year:

VARSITY: Julie Wass, Eastport; Brita Myhrman, Lewiston; Betsy Mumford, States Island, N. Y.; Mary Kneeland, Bethel; Mary Hewitt, Winterport.

JUNIOR VARSITY: Nancy Willard, Bethel; Joan Connor, Bethel; Arlene Bennett, Bethel; Joan Bennett, Bethel; Barbara Jodrey, Bethel.

Coach Clayton Fossett has had his Cross Country squad working out for the past 10 days preparing for which they hope will be an October 2nd opening. As yet, the date hasn't been filled and Gould would like a meet earlier at Bethel or away.

Six lettermen in Capt. Harley Merrill, Leo Roife, Ed Hastings, Ray Nowlin, Dale Bosworth, and David Fleet are available. Others from last year's squad are Dave Ault, William Coolidge, Bob Edney and Bob Lingham. The new recruits rounding out the fifteen man squad, are Doug Saunders, Carter Taylor, Harry Taylor, Malvern Wilson, and Frank Benson.

The schedule to date is as follows:

October
2—open
9—Fryeburg at Bethel
16—Portland at Bethel
21—at Rumford
29—at Dixfield
November
6—State Meeting (pending)

Executive Staff of The Blue and Gold, school newspaper, for 1952-1953:

Editor-in-Chief, Barbara Cole; Assistant to the Editor, Mary Ann Myers, Val Stevens; Alumni Editor, Marie Mills; Features Editors, Phyllis Chadbourne, Pat Allen, Frank Linnell; Exchange Editor, Sue Kneeland; Sports Editor, Dave Ault; Assistant to Sports Editor, Paul Fossett, Barry York; Photograph Editor, Gail Wallis; Circulation, Shirley Bartlett; Assistant Circulation, Barb Jodrey; Business-Advertising, Henrietta Swain; Assistant to TV, the chance that Grace Hartman may star in it. . . . This is what we would call inspired casting. . . . Burl Ives is illing with pneumonia in Honolulu.

Coach Robert Scott, starting his first practice of the season about the time most teams have already played a game, is faced with an outlook that appears only fair.

There are eleven lettermen returning to action, but most of them have played on one way, either on the offense or defense. Prospects look good for a strong line, but with very few replacements, while the backfield is fairly well fortified.

Captain Edwin Bacon is set at one tackle with probably "Ship" Pettapiece at the other. The guards with most experience are Don Sweeney and Van Gale Paul Bartlett and Sonny Hastings, who alternated last year at left end and have the two end positions well in hand. The center position is the big question mark at the present time. Dave Edelstein, a guard, and Mel Olson, an end, are both making strong bids for the job. Other linemen who show promise are Oakes, Bragg, Leighton, Merrill, Jodrey, Spitzer, M. Corey, White, Corliss, Calf, Daley and Adriance.

In the backfield, lettermen, Adams, Murphy, Burnham, Linnell, Rowe, and Melville are available. Burnham has played only on offense while the rest have played mostly defense. New to Gould football and showing possibilities in the backfield are Schmidt, G. Lawrence, Budge, Brush and Fanning.

Willard, Minor, Mead, Chase, Basso, Higgins, Emman, Hill and Young, mostly Freshmen, are having their first fling at the game.

The opening game on September 27th should be a tough one. The Mexico Pintos will be playing their fourth game while the Huskies will EVER THINK of mustard with string beans? It's a new flavor treat well worth trying. The beans, whether they're canned, frozen, or fresh, will taste better, you'll find, if you blend a pinch of dry mustard with the minced parsley and melted butter as a sauce just before serving.

You can fix leftover corn stewed in a pudding, or perhaps in a creamy corn soup. For a more flavory second appearance, try using ground jalapeno as a seasoning. It makes a wonderful "peppercorn."

Alfalfa is good too, with other vegetables such as carrots and tomatoes. Just add 1/4 teaspoon ground alfalfa to melted butter before pouring over vegetables.

On a slice of rye bread, place a slice of "boiled" ham and a thick layer of lettuce. Top with a slice of Swiss cheese, another slice of ham and more lettuce. Pour Thousand Island dressing over all. You can eat this one with a knife and fork!

Serve sizzling pork sausage links with mashed potatoes, cooked peas heated with undiluted cream of mushroom soup, and a crisp tossed salad.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Welsh Rarebit (Serves 5-6)

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup dry mustard
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1/2 cup cayenne
- 1/2 cup black pepper
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 cups shredded cheddar cheese

Melt butter in saucepan for top part of double boiler. Remove from heat. Add flour and seasonings. Stir until smooth. Gradually stir in milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in cheese and beat until melted, stirring frequently. Just before serving, stir in egg. Serve on crisp crackers or toast triangles garnished with a sprinkle of paprika.

Ever serve sliced green peppers as an accompaniment to veal chicken or lamb? Slice the peppers in rings about one-half inch thick. Season with salt and paprika. Then coat lightly with flour and fry until tender.

The retail fixings are obtained by labor. Mary Baker Eddy

The Ever-Lengthening Shadow

The tidal drift toward big government and the centralization of power is indicated by the sharply increasing Federal drain on national income over the last two decades. Federal expenditures for the fiscal year 1929 amounted to less than the total income payments of California's inhabitants, as is shown by the accompanying chart. In the fiscal year, 1939, these expenditures were equal to the individual income of the Pacific and Mountain regions, together with that of North Dakota and South Dakota, and 42 percent of Nebraska. For the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, estimated Federal expenditures will take the equivalent of estimated income payments of all people west of the Mississippi River and in addition all income payments of the inhabitants of Mississippi and 55 percent of those of Alabama.

The foregoing data cover only Federal expenditures. If total state and local expenditures were added, the area would be extended to include the remaining portion of Alabama, all of the individual income of the people of Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, and South Carolina, and three fourths of the individual income payments to inhabitants of North Carolina. This is shown in the blackened and cross-hatched areas of the bottom chart. These two areas account for 47 percent of the nation's population, 83 percent of the land area, 95 percent of total crude petroleum production, 85 percent of the lumber output, 70 percent of the total value of mineral production, and 71 percent of total value of all farm crop production. Income payments to individuals represent total income received from all sources by residents of each state. According to the United States Department of Commerce, it includes "...income received by individuals in the form of wages and salaries, net income of proprietors (including farmers), dividends, interest, net rents, and other items such as social insurance benefits, relief, veterans' pensions and benefits, and allotment payments to dependents of military personnel."

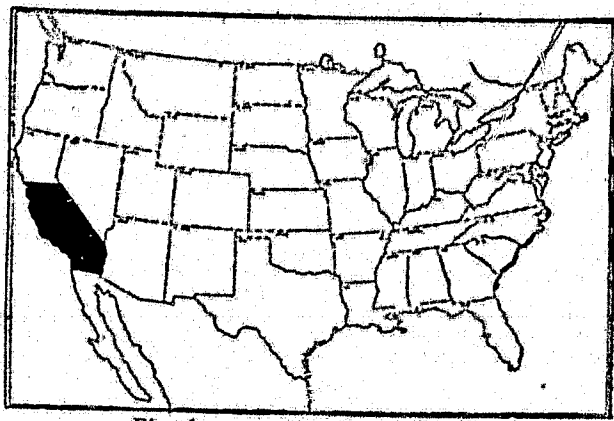

Total estimated government expenditures — Federal, state, and local — for the current fiscal year will be equivalent to the total wages and salaries of 75 percent of the number employed in non-government pursuits in this country. Expressed in another way, these governmental expenditures approximate the total national income of Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, France, Greece, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom, whose combined population aggregates more than 257 million persons. The Federal Government, alone, will spend in the current fiscal year more than was spent from 1789 through 1925, a period of 136 years.

In outlays for both defense and non-defense there is a staggering amount of waste as has been revealed by outstanding fiscal authorities of both major political parties. But this is evidenced in even a casual inspection of Government data. Non-defense expenditures have increased from $7.7 billion in the fiscal year 1939 to an estimated $34.2 billion for the current fiscal year. This represents nearly a four and one half fold increase during the period. For the current fiscal year, Federal expenditures for non-defense items alone will be nearly as much as was spent for all purposes during the entire decade of the 1920's.

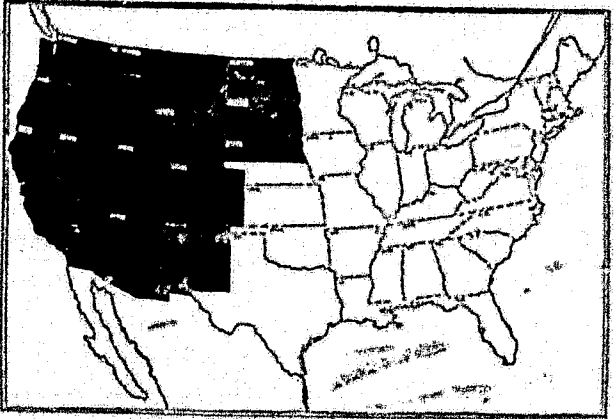

Some indication of the extent of waste may be found in the Federal personnel records. The number of civilian workers in the executive branch of the Federal Government has increased by 332 percent in the last two decades. This is more than eleven times the rate of increase in non-government employment during the period. A sprawling and mushrooming bureaucracy has been created that imposes a staggering burden on the taxpayer. But these public servants have also become the most powerful lobbyists for the spending of public money for all kinds of projects at a time when our Federal finances are in the danger zone.

For two decades the Government has been playing the role of benefactor to the American people, who apparently are enjoying the ride on the " gravy wagon." Financed by their own money. Too often the money is distributed to powerful pressure groups in return for political support. It would appear that American welfare has been placed on the political auction block to be sold to the highest bidder. That these "welfare" activities are false and hollow, as the Federal Government has no magic source of income but collects tax money from all parts of the country and distributes it again through its manifold spending channels.

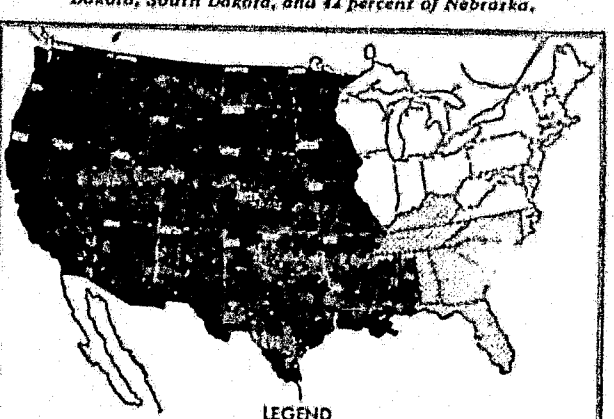

New England's share of estimated Federal expenses for the current year will be around $5.5 billion. This is more than was paid in Federal taxes by all of the people in the entire country in 1940. The Federal tax load per New Englander

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1929
Federal expenditures were less than two thirds of total income payments to individuals in California.

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1939
Federal expenditures were equal to total income payments to all individuals in the Pacific and Mountain states as well as in North Dakota, South Dakota, and 42 percent of Nebraska.

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1953
Estimated Federal expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, equal estimated total income payments to all individuals west of the Mississippi River, and in addition, all of the income to individuals in Mississippi and 55 percent of the income of Alabama. Total state and local expenditures of the entire country are shown in the cross-hatched area. The two shaded areas account for 95 percent of the nation's crude petroleum production, 85 percent of the lumber output, 70 percent of the total value of mineral production, and 71 percent of the total value of all farm crop production.

household averages around $2,000 this year, as against $168 per household in 1929.

Federal expenditures in a given region are not in the same proportion as revenues received from that region. In some areas of the South and West, Federal expenditures exceed receipts. In New England, however, there has been a heavy net outflow aggregating around $11 billion for the period 1929-1951. Many states are opposed to Federal subsidies and would much prefer to finance their own activities but feel compelled to dip into the "grab bag" in order to get back a larger part of the money contributed by their own citizens. This practice is not only demoralizing but also it is making state and local governments the vassals of the Federal Government, thereby threatening the existence of self government.

The irony of it all is that the more the Government takes in taxes from the people, the more it extends control over them. Through red tape, regulations, restrictions, and Government invasion of private enterprise, individual freedom gradually fades into the background until eventually there emerges the all-powerful state. The tragic experience of the Fascist countries should be a stark warning to us of the dangerous course plotted by those who are so anxious to rebuild our society. We should make note of danger signals and attempt to realize in what direction we are going. We should not be lulled into a false sense of security by glittering generalities that may lead us toward the same treacherous reefs that wrecked Germany and Italy, and are now threatening Great Britain and Argentina.

It should be obvious upon sober reflection that this nation has embarked upon a reckless and dangerous course that is dissipating our resources, undermining the wealth-creating powers of the people, and siphoning the seed money that should be ploughed back into business for tools and equipment in order to increase our productivity and keep our economy in a strong and healthy position.

"The Ever-Lengthening Shadow" originally appeared in the August, 1953, issue of our New England Letter. Since then, with modifications, it has been in three subsequent issues. It has been reprinted in many publications. We hope that this dramatic presentation of Federal finance may help, even in a small way, to arouse the American people to make strenuous efforts to halt this dangerous drift. The most powerful weapon in the hands of the people against wasteful government is the power of the purse, as was well understood by our Founding Fathers who provided safeguards against usurpation. The task of regaining sovereign power will not be easy. But, as in the case of our forefathers, the struggle and sacrifice will be worth while, for the alternative to the "rule by law" under a government by the people, is the rule of tyranny of the few under a totalitarian regime.

The issue before us rises far above party politics and involves in its scope the salvation of this nation.

MAINE WOODCARVERS IN CURRENT ISSUE

The traditional woodworking activity of residents of Lincoln County, Maine, is being perpetuated by the area's present-day wood carvers. It is pointed out to the current September 22nd issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

Author Charles Hawthorne finds that this project is confined to small objects that can be carried over a fence or a door or stored in a small space.

Many of these are carved out of the old standing carvings who are making good use of the old carvings and carving old things that are left over from the old days.

It is the hope of the author that the old carvings that are left over from the old days will be used in the present day.

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Two hand in hand menaces are cramping the USA style. One is the ever growing lack of freedom to work where, for what outfit or guy, for how much and for how long. The other is creeping Socialism that is fashioning every man's future in the mode desired by Big Govt. versus allowing each boy to fashion his own life by how much he chooses to burn the midnight oil or by the extent he desires to perspire.

Correcting these 2 menaces would be as easy as pie. First, the sweat little woman could take her big hero by the scruff and plank him back on his job as she walks up to the man on the picket line and tells him to go home. He would go. That would solve the "freedom to work" problem—and in spite of labor bosses, politicians and the Lefties.

The socialist menace is a voter's job. Women and men voters, listen to your Uncle Josephus and then check up—see if I am telling the truth or am peddling guff. No city owned, state owned, or Govt. owned property pays taxes. If Seattle takes over the street cars, Los Angeles takes over its lighting system, the Govt takes over the power in Tennessee, and you live in Michigan or Minneapolis or far away from Seattle or Los Angeles or Tennessee, you join in just the same on the tax deficit. That folks, is Socialism.

CARTER POLLED BIG VOTE IN STATE SENATORIAL CONTEST

Due to slightly jumbled headings in the statistics on the vote for State Senator in the Citizen last week there was confusion as to the results. Totals were: Carter, 6005; Fuller, 6391; Caron, 3880; Edwards, 3558. John Carter and Carleton Fuller, Republicans, were elected.

The socialist menace is a voter's job. Women and men voters, listen to your Uncle Josephus and then check up—see if I am telling the truth or am peddling guff. No city owned, state owned, or Govt. owned property pays taxes. If Seattle takes over the street cars, Los Angeles takes over its lighting system, the Govt takes over the power in Tennessee, and you live in Michigan or Minneapolis or far away from Seattle or Los Angeles or Tennessee, you join in just the same on the tax deficit. That folks, is Socialism.
